NFLPA

In compliance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement, each NFL club MUST spend an average of 89% of the salary cap in cash over the course of four seasons (2013 - 2016).

2013 Salary Cap - $123M	Minimum 89% Cash Spend: $109.5M
2014 Salary Cap - $133M	Minimum 89% Cash Spend: $118.4M
2015 Salary Cap - $143M	Minimum 89% Cash Spend: $127.3M

In the first two years,

the OAKLAND RAIDERS have spent only 80.16% of the Salary Cap.

$40M

The estimated increase in player salaries that must take place this offseason, and be maintained in 2016, in order to meet the Minimum 89% Cash Spend required by the CBA over all four seasons.

The RAIDERS chose to carry over $7.4M in unused cap from 2014. Their 2015 Adjusted Team Salary Cap is

$151,872,756

Click Here for the Full List of Adjusted Team Salary Cap Numbers